BINIBONA · SERRA DE TRAMUNTANA · MALLORCA

A historic finca in Binibona

Ca'n Beneït is a historic Mallorcan finca in the hamlet of Binibona, at the foot of the Serra de Tramuntana. Today it is a five-star hotel with its own restaurant, Mirabona.

Its stone houses, gardens, chapel and terraces lend themselves to private celebrations: a ceremony, a dinner with family and friends, a gathering that moves from one space to the next. The following pages present five of these settings, each illustrated in the set-up that suits it best.

THE ESTATE

Jardí des Tarongers

In front of the main house

A Mediterranean garden of mature trees and a palm, framed by dry-stone walls and a terrace of citrus trees.

Guests gather on the upper lawn, where welcome drinks are served from a solid-wood bar beside the arrival from the courtyard. The citrus terrace below remains part of the landscape.

Sa Capella

Within the finca

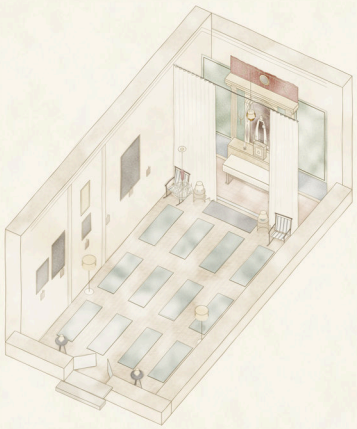

Sa Capella keeps its historic altarpiece of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. Its single nave, 4.80 by 9 metres and six metres high, has a wooden floor, white curtains and a crystal chandelier.

It hosts private ceremonies and intimate gatherings, and adapts to other formats: a yoga or pilates class, a meeting, a long table.

Above the Mirabona restaurant, Puput is a terrace of old stone and soft shade: a traditional timber roof against the façade, a reed-covered pergola along its length and a dry-stone parapet turned south-west, towards the evening light.

A small garden of aromatic plants runs beside it, and a mirador rises one step above the terrace at its far end. Puput is kept for seated celebrations. Welcome drinks may be arranged beforehand in Jardí des Tarongers.
